Departure : Town Hall Square, Lombers

Arrival : Same place as departure

Markings : — PR

Cities : 1. Lombers

The Roman trail leaves from the center of the village of Lombers. The known history of this town lies between 1165 and 1633. Its origin dates back to the Celtic or Gallo-Roman era. There was a fortified castle at the height of the peak, allowing enemies to be seen approaching. At the northern base of the Pic, coming from Albi, the Roman road was divided into two parts, one meandering towards the castle, the other allowing access to the town via the PAPAGAY gate. It is also on the old Roman road the “cami Roumieu” that the Roman trail continues.

Description

- 1 From the village square, head towards the town hall and continue the road, crossing the bridge to cross the Assou stream, and start climbing the Pic de Lombers by taking the second road on the right.
- 2 Passage near the Pic de Lombers cross, which recalls the existence of the fortified castle. Continue right.
- 3 After a section on tarmac, turn right towards the place called Puech Rouge. The path runs along a wooded area.
- 4 Arriving in front of a tarmac municipal road, turn left with on the left the “Pied de Mulet” type dovecote of Médale.
- 5 Turn at the Moulin d'Ambrozy, an authentic flour mill built before the 16th century and very nicely restored. Then join the greenway a few hundred meters further on the right towards Lombers.
