Description

1. Cross the D49, take the street "Centrale" and at the end, turn right to climb "La Côte" towards the church. When you reach the top, turn left and then right (follow the sign for the Fournials room).

2. At a large oak tree, take the dirt road, turn left, you will go along a beautiful pebble wall. When you reach the road, turn left towards the hamlet of Fontaurie then after a few meters, turn left again. At the hamlet, turn right at the cross and at the first fork turn left to keep the path which goes into a pretty wood where oaks, ash trees, hornbeams are the main species of trees that make it up.

3. After 1.5 km, turn right, cross a small stream and turn right again. The path follows the meanders of a pretty little stream. In spring, periwinkles and white anemones weave a quite astonishing flowerbed: very shady part to arrive at “Rouzieux”. You can already see the wind turbines and sometimes hear them.

4. After 200 m, turn left. The path is between forest and meadow for 200 m then take the 2nd path on your right: climb “hard” for 1200 m in a wood made up only of conifers. Arrived at the municipal road, turn right. After passing at the foot of a wind turbine, turn right again to take a wide forest track which, from the heights of Serviès, will take you down to the Agout valley.

5. Arrived at a small road, turn left then after about ten meters, take a path on the right which runs alongside a vineyard.

6. At the end, turn right to go back up towards the hamlet of Fontaurie and at the first intersection, turn left then right to return to the square by the same path as on the way there.
