Description

1. Cross the hamlet to join the D49 and keep it for 200 m. At the bridge, take the municipal road on your left towards Puycalvel. Keep this road for a few meters before attacking a path on the right at the edge of a field to reach a group of houses in "Cantemerle".

2. Go back up on your left the path first tarmac then dirt which winds through a wood for 1 km to gently climb up to the heights of Cuq. At the exit of the wood, turn left to join the road to Puycalvel. You pass at the foot of the three wind turbines.

3. When you reach the road, turn right and keep this tarmac road for 1.5 km. This section can be frightening because of the length of bitumen but it is a delight for the eyes and the traffic is not very heavy. Stay vigilant!

4. Leave the road to take a small dirt path on the left which joins another small road (towards Moulayrès). You are on the Dadou basin, due north on a small path on the ridge.

5. At the height of "La Carbonnarié" turn left, and at the first intersection, keep the dirt road on your left then a few meters further at the fork, take the path on the right.

6. Go down into a wood to exit at the place called "En Rouzieux" in the commune of Serviès. Cross the Rouzieux campsite nestled in a green setting for the return to Varagnes.
